
Known Issues - IE7

Posted by findhelp - 2007/10/10 20:03

There is an issue with accessibility of the individual treatment centers' listing pages in the treatment directory in Internet Explorer v.7.0 - Prior to launch, we did extensive testing of the site in multiple browsers. Treatment-Centers.net works with all modern browsers - we've tested on Internet Explorer v.6 and 7, Netscape and Firefox (all modern versions), Opera, and AOL's browser - on Windows, Macintosh, and Unix, and all Web 2.0 functionality (ajax, javascript and css) works. A strange intermittent issue has arisen with Internet Explorer version 7.0 in which certain treatment center's listings cannot be displayed - we are working diligently to pinpoint the problem, and expect to have it resolved within 24-48 hours. Thank you for your patience :)

Post edited by: findhelp, at: 2007/10/10 20:04

Re:Known Issues - IE7

Posted by thestain - 2007/10/11 01:24

Thanks for the update.you've done an amazing thing starting this site and of course there are going to be bugs and some of us will be challenged learning the ropes. Appreciate your patience with me also. Chris

Re:Known Issues - IE7

Posted by findhelp - 2007/10/11 15:08

FIXED :)

Please let me know in this thread if you experience differently asap! Otherwise, today I'm going to work on increased forum functionality integration with the main community profiles.
